

Today Mediterranean ports are ready Land connectivity

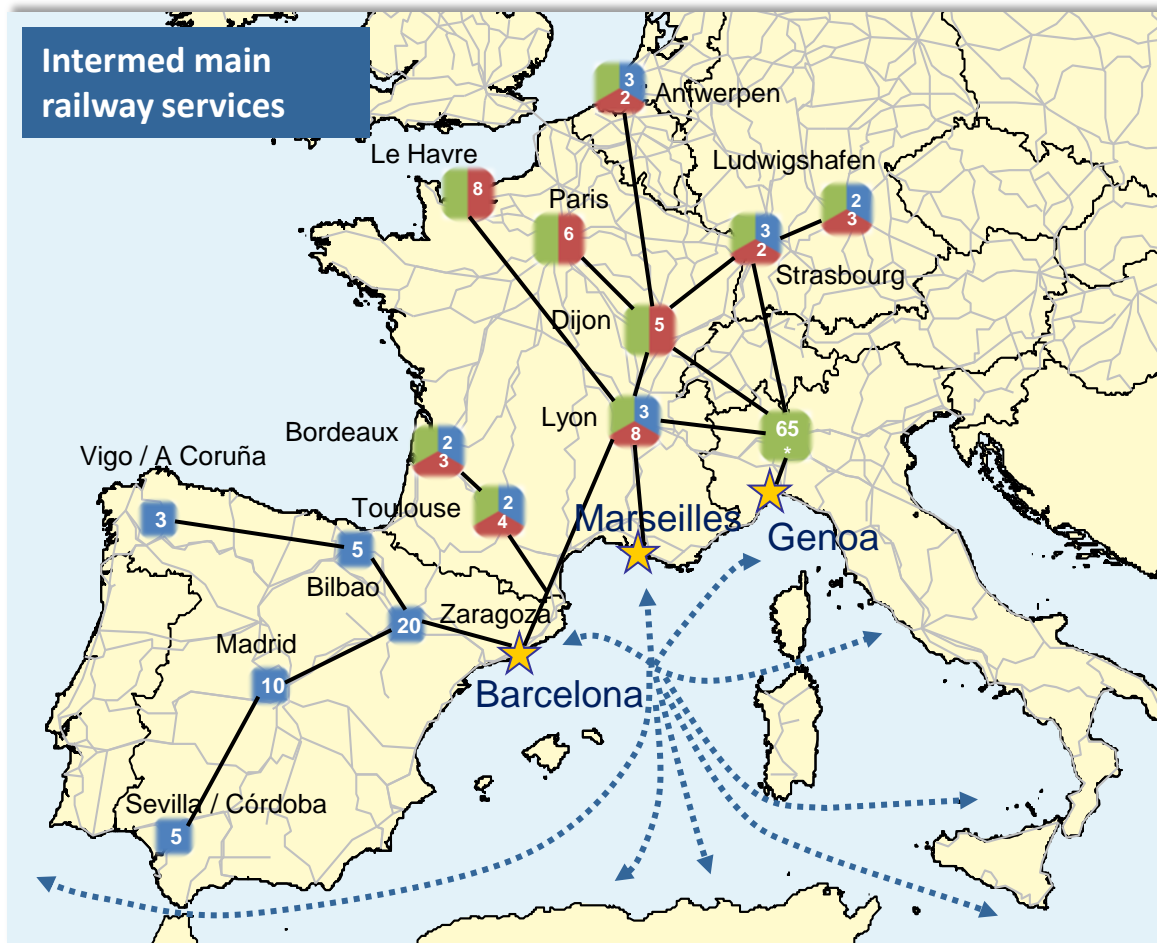

Road transport distribution from the Mediterranean: the best option for saving time, costs and avoiding congestion.

Time by truck to the main European cities and consumption centres (considering the following conditions: one single driver, respecting speed limits and compulsory stops according to EU regulations)

Today Mediterranean ports are ready Rail connectivity

A commitment to railways despite limited infrastructures

★ Rail traffic at Intermed Ports has increased considerably over the last years, due to:

- Investments in rail infrastructures made by ports
- Growing supply of services from private sector

★ Although % market share of rail in Intermed Ports has reached 10/12%, volumes by rail are still far from volumes in Northern Europe.
